American Coastal Coalition

A Unified Voice for America's Coastal Communities

What We Do

We work with Members of Congress, the Corps of Engineers, FEMA, NOAA, other federal agencies and stakeholders to drive federal funding and legislation beneficial to coastal communities and beaches.

The ACC focuses on promoting coastal issues, advocating on behalf of its coastal member communities on issues such as beach nourishment, dredging, and the resilience of critical infrastructure to help coastal communities respond to sea level rise, hurricanes and flooding.

Priority Legislation

- Water Resources Development Act
- Energy & Water Appropriations

Key Issue Areas

- Coastal Erosion
- Hurricanes and Coastal Storms
- Flooding
- Tourism and Recreation
- Sea Level Rise
- Habitat and Wildlife Conservation
- Regional Sediment Management

Who Should Join The ACC?

If your business or community depends on the health of your beaches, you should join the ACC. We are the leading voice in Washington, DC advocating for funding for beaches, coastal restoration, and other projects that protect life, property and economy from coastal storms, flooding and sea level rise.

By joining the ACC Members earn a seat at the table to shape policies, access funding, meet with members of Congress and collaborate with peers to address shared challenges—whether it's infrastructure resilience, environmental protection, or economic growth.
